Luo Ping: The Life, Career, And Art Of An Eighteenth Century Chinese Painter

Kim Karlsson

Luo Ping (1733-1799), often called the youngest of the 8 Eccentrics of Yangzhou and a follower of Jin Nong (1687-1763), used to be some of the most flexible and compelling artists of his time. whereas his paintings covers all significant portray matters and indicates nice stylistic and conceptual variety, his character looks both multifaceted. Contemporaries and later critics characterised him variously as a cultural arriviste, a Confucian student of significant ethical dignity, a Buddhist monk, a loving and religious husband, an « eccentric with robust leanings towards the supernatural, or even an anti-Manchu dissident. dependent as a accomplished and mostly chronological account of the artist's existence and his interactions with buyers of alternative geo-cultural environs, specifically Yangzhou and Beijing, this research makes an Luo Ping: The Life, Career, And Art Of An Eighteenth Century Chinese Painter attempt to spot the standards that contributed to the unfolding of the master's creative voice. It contains an in depth exam of Luo's personal, literary, and creative engagement with Buddhism, which constituted an important yet hitherto imprecise part of his lifestyles and work.
