R. Scott Chalmers

during this provocative new proposal, Chalmers offers the prophet Hosea as engaged in a polemic opposed to the Canaanite deity El. particularly in chs. 11-13 Hosea is exposing the Northern Kingdom's deadly blunders of mistaking El for Yahweh (just as, in chs. 1-2, it was once Baal who used to be wrongly pointed out with Yahweh). right here Hosea is asking, 'Who is the god of Jacob?', 'Who is the god of the exodus?' His resolution is: now not El-as in lots of Israelite traditions-, yet Yahweh. This acceptance leads Chalmers to reconstruct the The Struggle of Yahweh and El for Hosea's Israel (Hebrew Bible Monographs) 'back story' of the god El, from the sanctuary narrative in Genesis 28, the Balaam oracles in Numbers 22-24, and the account of Jeroboam's cult in I Kings 12. opposed to the normal view that there's no polemic opposed to El within the Hebrew Bible, Chalmers argues that the habitual polemic opposed to the sanctuary at Bethel could have much less to do with 'golden calves' or anti-northern rhetoric than with a miles older debate concerning the identification of the god worshipped at Bethel. the second one half this publication is going past the sanctuary at Bethel to the life of a deity named Bethel. simply because the cults of Yahweh and El have been heavily similar in Hosea's eighth-century Israel, within the fifth-century Jewish cost at Elephantine Yahweh and Bethel appear to be virtually interchangeable. because the spiritual ideals on demonstrate in Elephantine exhibit a few awesome similarities to that of Hosea's The Struggle of Yahweh and El for Hosea's Israel (Hebrew Bible Monographs) Northern Kingdom, the sooner Yahweh-El dynamic and the later Yahweh-Bethel dynamic could successfully interpret one another.
